DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to application, filed on April 06, 2004 has been considered but are deemed moot because of Restrictions Request below.
2. Claims 1-40 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even through the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143). Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-10, drawn to method for processing a configuration data change, which is database management, classified in class 707, subclass 1.
- II. Claims 11-16, drawn to a method for notifying a client of a change in configuration data, which is data concurrency, classified in class 707, subclass 8.
- III. Claims 17-25, drawn to a method for applying a configuration data change to a client, which is distributed data access, classified in class 707, subclass 10.

- IV. Claims 26-35, drawn to a system for managing a plurality of clients, which is distributed data processing between clients, classified in class 709, subclass 203.
 - V. Claims 36-40, drawn to a computer-readable media for cache managing component to execute the change in the configuration data on the affected client in response to the notifying the affected client of the change in the configuration, which is cache controlling, classified in class 711, subclass 118.
4. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:
- Inventions I, II, III, IV and V are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instance case, invention I can be used for processing a configuration data change, which is database management. Invention II can be used for notifying a client of a change in configuration data, which is data concurrency. Invention III can be used for applying a configuration data change to a client, which is distributed data access. Invention IV can be used for managing a plurality of clients, which is distributed data processing between clients. Invention V can be used for cache managing component to execute the change in the configuration data on the affected client in response to the notifying the affected client of the change in the configuration, which is cache controlling. See MPEP 806.05(d).

5. Because these inventions are distinct for reasons given above and have acquired separate status in the art as shown their different classification, restriction for examination purpose as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I, II, III, IV are not required for Group V each other, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Applicants are advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even through the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

9. Applicants is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to be non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48 (b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48 (b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17 (i).
